How/What Question:

How do I promote paid Tarot Readings with my integrity intact? What was once always respected with a gift for a gift, or a silver dollar in advance, now requires a business transaction that I don't particularly want to participate in as it seems to confuse my role as a Wise Woman with that of "business woman" ... Wise Women/Healers were traditionally welcomed and housed within the community as an integral part of society. Now they are treated as though they are witches and left to starve, which obviously angers me deep down.

What to do first:

The Hierophant (R)

Stop resisting taking control of your message; command an audience because you have been selected for this role and given the keys to unlock the mysteries that are otherwise hidden from the public domain.

You are now using these skills for those who seek this knowledge, not only for themselves, but so they may also pass on their messages as pertaining to their selected roles to others. There is a hierarchy in place and you have a specific role/position to hold in it for a Higher Good of all concerned.

What can cross this?

The World (R)

You can use the World for or against yourself, it is up to you to take advantage of the Resources inherent in Consciousness for all Individuals. No physical trappings required, simply Knowledge of the Forces of Nature that are accessed via the Mind/Consciousness. There is no need to pick and choose, you can access it all. The only barrier is the one woven of beliefs and superstitions purposely put in place to keep individuals from knowing how Creative they really are. Think/Ask/Intend and your desires are materialised. You have the humanity, oversight, strength and power to use good conscience ... use them or lose them for another lifetime.

Use this to deal with it:

Judgement (R)

People live in hope, right up to the very end, with one foot in the grave. They will take anything, trust anyone, try anything in the hopes someone, something, some authority will set them free of their conscience and give them what they want; a free ticket to heaven. Readings can be done with integrity, or with blatant disregard for the long term wellbeing of others.

You are resisting doing what you do well for a Higher Good of all concerned, because you know oracles/readings are so often used for evil and/or ego. This does not mean you will also blow hot air (talk rot) in an effort to appease people when they are stuck in their emotions seeking answers to their pointless prayers. You know Judgement starts NOW with YOU. Your Conscience is Clear ... Allow. And fear not the judgement of others.
